

The image shows the interior of a building constructed from bamboo. The roof is a complex, multi-tiered thatched structure made of bamboo poles and woven reeds. The walls are also made of bamboo, with some sections featuring vertical slats. A balcony with a bamboo railing is visible on the right side. In the foreground, there are two dark wooden chairs with light-colored cushions and a small round table made of bamboo. A large window or glass door is visible in the background, leading to another room. The overall atmosphere is warm and natural.

Accommodation on Cempedak Island is limited to 20 one bedroom pool villas. Privacy is guaranteed with all of the villas generously spaced out over the southern half of the island. The remainder of the island is reserved as a sanctuary to ensure that the environmental impact is minimal and that there are plenty of secluded and tranquil places to explore.

Handcrafted from bamboo with 'alang alang' grass roofs, the two storey villas are over 150sqm and incorporate a spacious upstairs bedroom an ensuite bathroom and a balcony with glorious water views. Downstairs is a huge lounge area with an open-air deck area and a private plunge pool, sun loungers and a bar and second bathroom.

Cempedak offers two different types of villas; beach villas and seaview. The beach villas all have direct access to the beach. The seaview villas are on the small ridge behind the beach and have breathtaking seaviews.

Interiors introduce you to barefoot luxury at it's very best. With vaulted ceilings, electric fans and a king sized bed resplendent in luxurious organic white cotton sheets draped with generous mosquito nets. Ensuite bathrooms have modern fittings set amongst natural stone and bamboo. Each beach house
